Undergraduate Admissions

How do you apply?

In order to apply, you will need to prepare a brief personal statement. (Maximum 2,000 characters.) This statement can be used to express your educational goals, tell us why you are applying to the major, and to address any concerns about your record. Additionally, you will need to submit an unofficial UW transcript.

Applications will be available online and open to current University of Washington students.

Submit your ONLINE APPLICATION during one of the following admission windows:

Admissions decisions will be communicated via email. If admitted, follow the next steps listed in the email. If admitted and you do not accept the offer by the deadline stated in the email, you will not be admitted to the major and will need to reapply in a future admission cycle.

Looking ahead to future admission cycles, note that application deadlines are 5pm on the second Friday of Autumn quarter and the second Friday of Spring quarter.

Minimum admission requirements include:

- A minimum grade of 2.0 in each of MATH 124, MATH 125, MATH 126 (or MATH 134-5-6)
- A minimum grade of 2.0 in AMATH 301
- This is a capacity constrained major and admission is competitive. Successful applicants typically have over a minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA in courses listed above. Admissions statistics are noted below.
